DA FEAR-NO-MORE

TWO PRIMARY OBJECTIVES

- 1. Continued Care: for our Non-Human Devotees. This includes the basics such as food, water shelter, health care and protection.
- 2. Infrastructure: A core infrastructure is necessary as it not only protects our non-human devotees but creates a shared interconnectedness with devotees and the public.

Key Benefits:

- Provides environments and spaces where non-humans and humans can interact and feel the interconnectedness or Prior Unity (allowing visits / retreats to happen)
- Ensures safety for public and devotees while visiting
- Enables reception for additional non-human residents, including a new generation of camels to carry on the lineage

DRIFTED IN THE DEEPER LAND

The human world is the fear world. All of Nature so to speak, is Contemplating constantly. There are breaks, it seems, or required action, but essentially it's a culture of Contemplation including the Earth itself. That is why there is Fear-No-More Zoo. Living things are there just being—without fear. Just being at the Zoo awakens compassion for all living beings, and a feeling of Non-“difference”, of Unity. To Me, in the ultimate sense, non-humans are the same as human beings. I don't imagine them being lowly or separate, or different in any sense whatsoever. And that's what you should realize when you go to Fear-No-More Zoo. It's about “fearing no more”, feeling a great Unity, going beyond the knot of separate self, being in the condition of the Samadhi of God-Communion. (January 5, 1996)
